

Clément BOUDINEL

Data Scientist - ML Engineer - Web developer

SUMMARY

After 6 years of experience in web development, during which I led several data-oriented projects (search engine redesign with Elasticsearch, design and optimization of SQL databases, implementation of APIs), I chose to specialize in data science. I followed an intensive bootcamp in Data Science & AI, where I developed my skills in Python, machine learning and data analysis. I am looking for my first position in data science to leverage both my experience in web development and my new data skills.
